CRIME'S LEGAL LOOPHOLES TO BE PLUGGED UP

Incorporate Today to Curb Outlawry.

Plugging of the loopholes of the law that permit criminals to delay or defeat punishment is the announced object of the Illinois Association for Criminal Justice, which comes into being today when articles of incorporation are filed with the secretary of state in Springfield.

Heretofore there have been numerous sporadic efforts made on a statewide scale to take away the legal advantages that crime gangs have. The new organization, an offshoot of the State Bar association, plans to beat back the sources of these advantages—favorable laws and delays in the courts—and remedy them.

A Survey and a New Code. Two branches of the appointed task are to be done at once. One is an intelligent, painstaking survey of the present situation and its causes. The other is a revision of the criminal code that will give prosecutors an equal chance with defense lawyers.

Active in the formation of the association were William C. Boyden, president of the Chicago Bar association, and George H. Wilson of Quincy, the new president of the Illinois Bar association. Mr. Boyden is one of the directors.

Education is to be given the American Law Institute, which started several months ago on the preparation of a model criminal code for Illinois, the work being financed by the Laura Spelman Rockefeller foundation.

A movement to form an effective body that would not only aid in the punishment of crime, but also in the education of conditions leading up to it, was started last winter in Chicago. A committee headed by Joseph T. Ryerson reported to the president of the twenty-seven leading civic organizations a permanent fighting force to suppress criminals.

Youth Kills to Avenge Slight to His Mother

(Picture on back page.) Because his former employer pushed his mother and called her crazy when she interceded for him in getting a recommendation for a new job, Leo Bartkowski, 17 years old, 2100 Archer avenue, yesterday shot and killed Otto Mertens, 34 years old, as he watched his horses in the rear of his cooperative plant at 2103 Robinson street. Mertens' body, with two bullet wounds in the head, was found at 1225 yesterday morning in a yard adjoining the plant by Jerry Rheehan, a watchman.

Following the finding of the body the police under Capt. James L. Mooney of Brighton Park station mingled with the crowd standing around the cooperative yard and took the Bartkowski boy into custody as he was walking away.

Adults slaying to Police. At the station he at first denied any acquaintance with the killing, but after questioning by Capt. Mooney, the youth blurted out, "I'm glad I killed him. Nobody can insult my mother and get away with it. Will I hang for this, Captain?"

Guard Fails Plot to Flee County Jail

Seven of the most desperate criminals in the county jail, led by Dan McGeehan, member of Henry Farnes, the "midnight" bandit's hand of robbers and slayers, and under sentence to be hanged for murder, were foiled in an attempt to escape early this morning after three of them had saved their way out of their cells and overpowered one of the guards.

Those implicated in the plot in addition to McGeehan are: Raymond Burns, held under $20,000 bond on a charge of robbery; William Livingston, two charges of assault to murder, and three charges of robbery; Thomas Ivers, alias Sullivan, escaped convict from Joliet, where he murdered a guard.

Angelo Caggiano, four charges of robbery and one charge of rape; Gus Peterson, three charges of robbery; Matthew Stewart, three charges of robbery.

Star Suffers Collapse in His Apartment

(Picture on back page.) New York, Aug. 15.—(Special).—Rudolph Valentino, noted screen star, collapsed suddenly today in his apartment at the Hotel Ambassador. Several hours later he underwent operations for a gastric ulcer and appendicitis.

S. George Ullman, Mr. Valentino's manager, early this morning said: "We fear that it is doubtful if he can survive because the disease had progressed so far without his knowing or suspecting it."

Mr. Valentino and his valet, it was said, were the only persons in his apartment at the time of the collapse. The screen star suddenly gasped, put his hand to his body, and fell in a faint.

The valet summoned assistance and notified Barclay Warburton Jr., a broker and friend of the movie actor and Mr. Warburton came from his apartment at once.

Taken to Hospital. Mr. Warburton called in Dr. Paul E. Durham, who in turn brought in Dr. Harold D. Meeker. Mr. Ullman arrived in a short time and plans were made for immediate removal of Valentino to the Polyclinic hospital.

Although the collapse took place shortly before noon, it was not until 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon that the actor was brought to the hospital.

Dr. Meeker, assisted by Dr. Durham and Dr. O'Brien Rhind Battery, senior house physician at the hospital, performed the double operation, about an hour later. The ulcer was sewn up, it was said, and the appendix removed.

MANY IN CROWD HURT; COOLIDGE STUDIES ROW

Kellogg Reports to President on Plea of Catholics.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.) Paul Smiths, N. Y., Aug. 15.—(Special).—The Coolidge administration's Mexican and other foreign policies will be the subject of a series of conferences in the next three days between the President and Secretary of State Kellogg, who arrived at White Pine camp today.

Mr. Kellogg brought with him a number of official reports on the status of American interests abroad—in particular the details of the extent to which citizens of the United States have been affected by the anti-clerical measures put into effect by the Mexican government.

To Exact Proper Protection. The secretary of state reported to the President upon the discussion he had on Friday with James A. Flaherty, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus, who formally presented the demand of the great Roman Catholic organization that the government intervene in Mexico to put an end to the persecution of American citizens.

It appears that Mr. Kellogg went no farther in this conference than to assure Mr. Flaherty that while the United States cannot properly interfere in any Mexican domestic matter, such as the regulation of religious worship, the administration is exacting and will continue to exact from the Mexican government full protection of American citizens from violence and respect for their property rights.

Knights Detail Treaty Abuse. The most interesting document filed in the consideration of the Mexican policy at White Pine camp is understood to be a detailed indictment of the Calles government by the Knights of Columbus and the Roman Catholic hierarchy in the United States, which contains a list of American citizens alleged to have suffered violence and deprivation of property in defiance of treaty rights in the course of the warfare between church and state in Mexico.

Difficulties of Situation. The administration is not unmindful of the possibility of its Mexican policy becoming the bone of bitter contention one hand and the Protestant and the Ku Klux Klan on the other. The defense of the Calles government emanating from Protestant sources has been noted.

Washington has been swamped with letters from Catholics denouncing and protesting against the administration for refusal to lift the arms embargo, which would operate to furnish the clerical groups in Mexico with the means of physical resistance to disposition, if not the status of revolution.

Soldiers Called; Club Rioters with Rifles.

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 15.—(AP).—One American and eight Mexicans were arrested for violation of the neutrality laws by department of justice agents this afternoon as they passed through La Mesa, eight miles from here, on two trucks loaded with machine guns, rifles, and ammunition. The trucks were headed for the Imperial valley, with Mexico as their ultimate destination, the agents said. Soon after this arrest a party of thirty other Mexicans, said to be leaders in a contemplated revolt in Lower California, were captured at Dulzura on the Imperial valley highway.

BY JOHN COENRYN. (Chicago Tribune Press Service.) Mexico City, Aug. 15.—There was a serious riot this morning at San Angel, a suburban city connected with Mexico City by tramways, many being wounded, some seriously. Only the coolness of the police and military prevented scores of deaths. Word was circulated early that a San Angel member of the schismatic church would hold services in Magdalena church. A large crowd gathered in front of the church at 5 o'clock waiting the appearance of the "renegade priest."

When the priest appeared, the mob attacked him and his followers. Police tried to protect the priest, but the mob carried all before it. Police fired on the mob, and the first was answered. There was a battle royal. A hurried call brought soldiers from the San Angelarrison. They used their rifles as clubs, driving the people from the church and into the public square.

Break Up Catholic Meeting. Then the police went to the home of J. M. Vovos, head of the San Angel branch of the League for the Defense of Religious Liberty, where Catholics were holding a religious meeting. The police broke into Vovos' home and drove the people out. In the struggle, the furniture of one of the finest mansions in San Angel was badly damaged.

While the raid was going on in the house the people in the street heard and shouted at the police. There were many arrests. There is intense excitement in San Angel, where trouble may break out again at any moment.

More Troops Rushed In. Additional troops have been rushed from the capital to the scene of the riot, and San Angel is now strongly guarded. The city is one of the oldest of the western hemisphere. It always has been a religious center. It is filled with old buildings belonging to many aristocratic families. There is intense excitement in San Angel, where trouble may break out again at any moment.

Catholic Leaders Meet. The spiritual council of the Mexican Catholic church held a momentous meeting at the episcopal palace this morning. It was attended by most of the notable Catholic leaders. The leadership of Bishop Pascual Diaz, secretary of the spiritual council, was called and the episcopate agreed to take low plane by him.

MEXICO IGNORES PACT TO PROTECT YANKEES' RIGHTS

Land and Oil Laws Root of Diplomatic Row.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

Staff Correspondent of The Tribune
Mexico City, Mexico.

The present diplomatic quarrel between the United States and Mexico is entirely apart from the religious question. The strife between the church and President Calles has not entered into diplomatic correspondence recently exchanged, and has only served to cloud a clear issue in the minds of the American and Mexican public.

The quarrel is based, first on failure to give adequate protection to American lives, second on failure to fulfill the terms of the Warren-Fayne agreement by making payment in bonds and cash for American properties seized or by return of the lands, and third, on the retroactive character of the alien land, petroleum, and mining laws.

The most recent note of Ambassador Sheffield dealt with the arbitrary regulations issued by Señor Marones, secretary for commerce, labor and industry, in regard to drilling permits. These regulations were so worded that had the companies accepted them they would have admitted the right of Señor Marones to assume judicial powers in questions of clouded titles, in addition to his purely administrative duties.

Allen Land Law Stringent.
There was a probability of settlement of the oil and mining questions when I left Mexico City, and these two questions do not play the largest part in Ambassador Sheffield's case against the Mexican government. Without minimizing in any way the importance of protection of the rights of large corporations legally acquired under the Mexican law, the correspondence of the American embassy has emphasized the retroactive effects of the alien land law and the violation of Mexico's international agreements. Under the terms of the alien land law foreigners cannot acquire ownership of lands or waters located within 62 miles of either frontier or 21 miles of the seacoast. Persons owning land in these prohibited areas must dispose of them during lifetime or their heirs must sell within five years of death. Corporations owning such land must dispose of it within ten years.

There is not enough money in Mexico to buy foreign properties within the prohibited area. If remaining unsold it will be disposed of at auction and these sales will prove a bonanza for friends of the government.

Fears Foreign Dislocation.

Not more than 40 per cent of the stock in any Mexican agricultural company can be held by foreigners. If acquired before the promulgation of the present constitution the same provisions for its disposal apply. No foreign corporation can acquire title in agricultural land.

The purpose of this regulation, according to the Mexican government, is to prevent foreigners from acquiring such heavy interests that they could dictate the policies of the country. President Calles points out that Mexico lost Texas because Americans had purchased large tracts of land there and then taken the government into their own hands.

The war which resulted from the secession of Texas and her admission to the Union cost Mexico the present states of California, Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, Utah, and Texas, and portions of Colorado and Wyoming.

President Calles frankly declares that he fears a similar condition might arise in the near future and the alien land law is framed to prevent a similar occurrence.

Seeks to Protect Yank Rights.
The American state department throughout the controversy has declared that it has no interest in any laws regulating the acquisition of land or other property in the future, but that American rights acquired before the promulgation of the constitution of 1917 must be protected. Firmness in dealing with the Mexican government probably would establish this principle, which has been reiterated many times by the state department.

The matter declaration of Secretary of State Hughes on June 7, 1921, which has become a declaration of rights of Americans in Mexico, was accepted by the Mexican government before recognition was granted. Among other things, Mr. Hughes said: "The fundamental question which confronts the government of the United States in considering its relations with Mexico is the safeguarding of property rights against confiscation."

"The question should not be confused with any matter of personalities or with the recognition of any administration. Whenever Mexico is ready to give assurances that she will perform her fundamental obligation in the protection both of persons and of rights of property validly acquired there will be no obstacle to the most advantageous relations between the two peoples."

Mr. Hughes then continued by saying that if the principles of the constitution of 1917 were put into effect retroactively properties of American citizens would be confiscated on a great scale. This has resulted.

Even if the question of oil, which many Americans wrongly believe to be the kernel of the whole controversy, did not exist, the state department would find itself faced with the necessity of taking strong diplomatic action at the present time.

The big oil and mining interests, which furnish a very large percentage of Mexico's revenues, are in a position to secure certain modifications in the mining and petroleum laws making continued operation possible.

But not so with the small land owner, who has no other leverage than the state department at Washington to protect his rights. And on the question of property ownership the Mexican government is adamant. It insists on applying the property laws retroactively.

Two Big Companies Suspend.
The property laws touch American oil companies in cases where the Mexican government claims that titles to property acquired before 1917 are void. These claims were the basis of Señor Marones' ruling permit order which called for the deposit of an unlimited bond and the acceptance by the companies of judicial competence of the ministry of labor and commerce in passing on the validity of titles.

Both the oil companies and the state department refused to accept the order, and suspension of operations of the Huasteca and El Aguila, the two largest companies affected, resulted. Huasteca was offered no less than twenty-nine permits under the terms of the order. All were refused.

When Ambassador Sheffield talks with President Coahuila in the near future he will detail for the chief executive the violations of the principles of retroactivity and ask an unyielding stand.

Paul Smith, N. Y. Aug. 11.—In a sermon on religion and broadmindedness, Dr. Charles T. Fiske of the Episcopal bishop of central New York, preaching here today in the St. John's in the Wilderness, the Rev. Dr. Fiske, who is the Episcopal bishop of New York and states president of the national conference of bishops, said: "The bishop of the Episcopal church, for saying governor can him the past ever get within gunshot of him."

BISHOP REBUKES BISHOP FOR SNEER AT SMITH'S FAITH

Fiske Calls Intolerance of Dry Un-American.

Paul Smith, N. Y., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—In a sermon on religious tolerance and broad-mindedness, the Rev. Dr. Charles T. Fiske of Utica, Episcopal bishop of central New York, preaching here today in the Church of St. John's in the Wilderness, rebuked the Rev. Dr. Adna W. Leonard, Methodist Episcopal bishop of northern New York and state president of the Anti-Slavery League, for saying that "no American can kiss the papal ring and still be within gunshot of the White House."

Bishop Fiske pronounced "un-American in spirit" the declaration of Bishop Leonard which referred directly to the candidacy of Gov. Al Smith, a Roman Catholic, for President, and was uttered at the Round Lake meeting to launch the candidacy of Franklin W. Ostrander, a dry, for United States senator against Senator Wadsworth, a wet.

"Intolerance un-American," the four dimensions of life was the subject. When Bishop Fiske discussed tolerance under the dimension of breadth, he said:

"We need a religion more liberal minded than that which seems to be principally enjoyed in regulating other people's morals and stigmatizing their sins."

"I can hardly imagine anything more un-American in spirit than the words of the preacher who declared last Sunday that no Roman Catholic could or should be elected President and then presumed to dictate to the members of his church as to whom they should vote for in the present senatorial campaign."

Coolidge Aids Present. Bishop Fiske preached to a fashionable congregation of summer residents, including some members of President Coolidge's entourage, in the little log church with its stained glass windows overlooking mountain forest and lake, not far from the summer white house. The church was built by Dr. Edward Livingston Trudeau, who founded the famous tuberculosis sanitarium in these mountains and whose son married Hazel Maryn of Chicago. Dr. Trudeau and his son, who was a physician, are buried in the churchyard.

Leonard Explains Speech. New York, Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Bishop Adna W. Leonard stated today that his address at Round Lake had been greatly misinterpreted. He said that his assertion that no governor could kiss the papal ring and come within gunshot of the Presidency, in-

VICTIMS OF HAY FEVER GIVEN ADVICE THAT'S NOT TO BE SNEEZED AT

Advice that is not to be sneezed at is offered hay fever victims in the current weekly bulletin of the department of health, issued by Health Commissioner Herman N. Bundesen, in view of the approach of the season when pollen from ragweed and other plants gets in its irritating work. Hay fever is a preventable disease, and is not contagious, the bulletin announces. Moreover, it is becoming less and less prevalent in Chicago, as hundreds of acres of vacant lots are built up. No weeds, no pollen; no pollen, no hay fever, is the explanation. An antihistamine known as pollen antigen has proved effective in the prevention of hay fever, the bulletin says. Sufferers are advised to stay in the city and save expenses; wear amber glasses to overcome irritation of the eyes; avoid dust and flowers; keep windows finely screened day and night to avoid ingress of pollen; drive in closed automobiles; be prepared for sudden changes in temperature; be moderate, especially in eating.

IMPERIALISM OF U. S. DECLARED PERIL TO CANADA

[Chicago Tribune From Service.]
Toronto, Ont., Aug. 15.—Speaking at Edmonton, Alta., James Woodworth, labor member of the house of commons, declared United States imperialism was more dangerous to Canada than British imperialism, because the states had so much wealth. He charged that the late Liberal government submitted its proposed legislation to Wall street capitalists before bringing it to the commons.

With surveys completed in the west, central Canada and the far east maritime provinces, impartial political observers in Canada are heralding the probability of another parliamentary stalemate after the election on Sept. 14.

Kills His Wife, Wounds 2 Stepsons and Himself

Martins Ferry, O., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Catherine Davidson Escott, 43, was killed and three others were shot, two probably fatally, following an attempt of her husband, Eli Escott, 61, to effect a reconciliation here today. The wounded are Ralph Davidson, 25; Frank Davidson, 24, and Escott, who, police say, after shooting the woman and two boys, turned the gun on himself. The Davidsons are sons of Mrs. Escott.

Blown from Parachute, Falls 400 Feet to Death

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Torn from his parachute by a gust of wind, Jimmy Calhoun, stunt flyer, today fell 400 feet to death in a lake at Lakewood, an amusement resort here. Thousands, including Calhoun's bride of a few weeks, watched him leap from the wing of a plane at a height of 2,500 feet. The harness of his parachute gave way when he was 400 feet above the lake.

WEDDED IN COMA, CHARGES WIFE OF MATCH KING

Nyack, N. Y., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—That she was bride in name only of her third wealthy husband, Eric Landgren, Swedish match king, was revealed today by Mrs. May Annabelle Fuller Landgren. The disclosure came in an interview concerning her difficulties with Pierre Martin, Piermont, N. Y., hotel proprietor, who caused her arrest on a worthless check charge. Eric Landgren followed her about the country, she said, beseeching her to marry him. "I fell ill with pneumonia," she explained, "and had been delirious for several days. One day Landgren appeared in my room. I screamed for him to be taken out, only to learn that I had been married to him two days before, while I was in bed." After her convalescence, she declared, she never lived with Landgren, each taking up separate residence in New York.

WORLD'S BIGGEST MOVIE FOR CITY; START JOB TODAY

South Side Project Will
Cost $5,000,000.

Chicago is to have a moving picture theater for its size and magnificence which will eclipse all the movie houses of the world, according to a statement made yesterday by Andrew Karsna, noted here for his de luxe ballrooms and cinemas. Although announcement was made some years ago that such a project was contemplated, the details have just been revealed with the completion of the plans last week.

The theater is to be called the New Woodlawn and will occupy the entire block, 275 feet square, bounded by 63d street, Maryland avenue, Drexel boulevard and 63d place. The entrance will be on 63d street.

The structure will replace the old Woodlawn and work will start on it today when wreckers attack its predecessor, which is nine years old. Completion is set for Sept. 1, 1927.

To Be Twelve Story Building.
The new building is to be twelve stories high and will represent an investment of $5,000,000, according to Mr. Karsna. It will contain stores and offices and a 500 room hotel, which will be operated by the builder.

The New Woodlawn was designed by C. Howard Crane and Charles H. Bettis and it will contain 4,000 seats. It will be larger in area than Roxxy's theater of New York, which heretofore has been known as the largest show-house in the country. The seating capacity will be about the same, although the New York house may be slightly larger in this respect.

The design is to be Persian in accordance with the present whim of movie builders in going to the architects for their decorative motifs. One of a number of innovations will be large restaurants on each of the three floors of the theater proper.

Two Lobbies and Stage Slugs.
There are to be two lobbies. That at the grand entrance lobby will be 40

ARREST FOR MURDER FOLLOWS ACCUSATION OF ATTACK ON GIRL

As the result of a family quarrel in the home of Robert Maralek, 3249 South Hamilton avenue, George Stolecki, wanted for the murder of a policeman in Buffalo, N. Y., is under arrest.

Sgt. William Maher was sent to the house when it was reported that Maralek was trying to kill his wife with a shotgun. The woman asserted that he was angry because she threatened to report that he attacked her 11-year old daughter by a former marriage.

Maralek, in revenge, pointed to Stolecki and told of his police record. Stolecki, who lives at 3103 South Ridgeway avenue, is a son-in-law of Maralek. The latter is to be charged with mistreating the little girl.

feet high and 250 feet long. It will be flanked by columns of travertine marble eight feet in diameter. A separate foyer will take care of the exits.

The stage, it is claimed, will be second in size only to that of the Metropolitan Opera house. It will measure 38 feet long and 180 feet wide and will permit of great productions in addition to the usual movies.

The backers of the project are Andrew and William Karsna, who were practically penniless when they arrived in Chicago in 1907 from Athens, Greece. Today, in addition to other developments, they control the Tribune and the newly opened Arago ballrooms and the North Center theater, opened last winter.

3 MORE GIRLS MORON VICTIMS; TOTAL NOW 11

One Accuses Father of 3;
Police Are Active.

With three new moron outrages against young girls yesterday and today raising the number of recent victims to eleven, the city and county police renewed their efforts to halt the mounting crimes, and prosecutors made ready to deal out maximum penalties to captured offenders.

Under orders issued by Chief of Police Collins and Chief of Highway Police Davidson, both forces were watchful of young, unaccompanied girls, and quick to investigate reports of missing ones. A warning, echoed in pulpits yesterday, was given to girls to hold aloof from chance acquaintanceships.

A 17-year-old girl reported to the police of the New City station early this morning that three young men had seized her in front of her home just after leaving her fiancé, with whom she had been hiding, drove her out in the country and then back to a garage in the neighborhood of her home, where all three attacked her. She gave the police a description of her assailants, and a search for them was started.

11 Year Old Girl Victim.
A child of eleven, missed shortly after she had left a friend's home for her own in the early evening, came sobbing to her mother early yesterday morning with a tale of mistreatment by a well-dressed man of 50 who kidnapped her in a large black touring car. She was seized near her home in the Hudson avenue police district while she was crossing a vacant lot, the police were told. The elderly assailant put his hand across the child's mouth, threatened her with death if she screamed, and then drove her a long distance to a lonely spot where he attacked her. Then he drove her back to her home neighborhood and put her out of the car, the child declared.

Father of Three Accused.
In the other outrage reported to the police, that of a 15-year-old girl, George Diesel, 27 years old, with a wife and three children, was being held charged with the crime. The girl asserted that Diesel, who lives at 2140 Greenview avenue, offered to obtain her employment, and then proposed a party.

After visiting several places, at which both drank beer, Diesel lured a taxi cab driven by William Bradley, 618 Barry avenue, according to the police, and the two were driven to a quiet road far out on Milwaukee avenue.

Leaving the cab, Diesel took the girl into the woods and there attacked her, according to her story. Returning to the cab, Diesel offered the girl to the chauffeur, Bradley, the latter declared, but he refused and drove the pair back to her home.

The girl's mother called the police when the girl named Diesel as her assailant, and Sgt. John Ruff took him into custody. Diesel asserted that the child had consented to his advances, even inviting them. The girl was so badly injured that she was taken to a hospital for treatment.

Another Suspect Seized.
One other suspect was taken into custody, and four men, two charged with a girl's death, were being sought all over the county.

In the death of Miss Mildred Fracker, 21 years old, who suffered fatal injuries when she jumped from an automobile to escape attack by two young men, the police took William Esting, 17 years old, 5581 La Salle street, into custody for questioning. They planned to hold him at the Englewood station until Miss Helen McInerney, 29 years old, 514 West 41st street, who also escaped the attackers, had an opportunity to view them.

Miss McInerney, despairing over her child's death, threatened suicide Saturday night in a telephone call to her mother, but she was found unharmed some hours later.

Highway police squads under Chief Davidson were making a determined search for Joseph Wyallice and Charles Carr of McGraw park, named in the confession of Albert Fietak of Bellwood as having joined with him in attacking two young girls last week.

During the evening three Negroes were arrested at the Sanford playground, 14th and Halsted streets, following an attempt by one of them to embrace Miss Magda Nissen, the 23-year-old playground director, who lives at 2249 North Kedzie avenue. The men gave their names as Walter Johnson, 729 Maxwell street; Denis Mason, 215 Hastings street; and Albert Williams, 544 West 14th street.

Miss Nissen said Johnson was the man who put his arm around her. The young woman broke away from him and fled to the office of the playground, where she called the Maxwell street police.

Miss Nissen told the police she discovered a group of colored youths annoying some white girls. She said when one of them kissed one of the white girls she went to stop it.

TOUR LEADS TO HOME OF NOTED OCTAVE THANET

Davenport, "Where West Begins," Is Visited.

In story of The Tribune's Chicagoan pilgrimage to reach a point which Davenport proclaims as "Where the West Begins," and there, we think, you will find some people and things you did not expect to find.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
Davenport may not know it, nor quite like it, but what Easterners who have read the books of midwest authors that are significant contributions to authentic American literature—what those condescending Easterners say when they hear the name of Davenport is:

"Davenport—um—O, yes—Davenport, the town where Octave Thanet lives!"

And in France, if one said "Davenport," one might meet a blank stare, but if one said "Octave Thanet"—as was happened in a French chateau—several French women and men, including book reviewers and army officers, would exclaim, "O, is Octave Thanet?" and there would be a topic of exhilarating conversation for the next quarter hour.

Roosevelt Liked the Stories.
You observe the French people said "is Octave Thanet?" they supposed, from the name, the author under discussion to be a man.

But they knew her work.
Further to impart to go-getting Davenport a fact which may prove salutary, it can be said that when Theodore Roosevelt went on his big game hunt to Africa, an expedition in which every ounce of luggage counted twenty times what it would in an ordinary tour, he had Octave Thanet's "Stories of a Western Town" (that town being Davenport in the early sixties of the last century) rebound in pigskin and put it in the celebrated "Pigskin Library" that went to Africa with him.

Also: Octave Thanet's "The Man of the Hour" (1905) and her "Stories of a Western Town" (1895) have been translated into German, French, and Russian, and on the continent they are esteemed as important and charming studies of American life.
Living at Great Age.
Octave Thanet is living at a great age—I mean great age, not old age, for she still is young—and I call her "the Duchess of Davenport" because in her seventy-sixth year she couples

QUAKE

LONDON, Aug. 15. (AP)—England experienced at 5 a. m. today earth shocks covering a wide area, extending almost through the whole midland counties and as far south as Bournemouth, within ten miles of London. A part of Wales also felt the shocks. No damage or casualties were reported. The disturbances caused yawning furniture and breaking crockery. The tremors lasted a few seconds, producing consternation among the people aroused from their sleep, especially children. The counties affected were Derbyshire, Somerset, Devonshire, Herefordshire, Warwickshire, Northampton, Leicestershire, Radnorshire, and also Bath and Bristol.

perfect repose of manner with brilliance of talk and a kind of serene dominance of intellect that combine to make every word she says arresting.

Once she said this: "Brevity is the first grace of the muse."

"Sweet butter [she meant unsalted butter] on the table is the sure token of a sophisticated town."

Once when I asked her why she chose those captivating words of Shakespeare, "knitters in the sun," as the title of her first book (1887) she replied: "I chose them because they perfectly expressed my theme. Americans are all knitters in the sun, working out their dreams in the sunlight—happily."

Knows About Middle West.
She has a genius for charming titles, and you will find, when you scan the long shelf in a collection of significant American fiction containing her nearly score of books, titles like "A Step on the Stair," "The Heart of Soil," "The Midway Sheriff," and—ah, ironic fate—"A Slave to Duty, and Other Women."

Her last book was, I believe, "And the Captain Answered" (1917), but why should it be her last? Her autobiography is now her duty to a world that has been kind to her.

Her duty, I say, because she knows more about the middle west, what it means, what its spiritual significance is, and what its spiritual aspirations and gropings now are and have been for the last 40 years—knows more about the real Chicagoan, in other words—than any other literary artist now living except Hamlin Garland and Henry B. Fuller.

Should Start Autobiography.
Davenport, so keen on going to New England and getting its capitalists to invest in Davenport, might profitably do a little going and getting right at home. It might pass a municipal ordinance compelling its rich, contented townswoman, Alice French—for that is the real name of Octave Thanet—who thinks her work in literature is done, to revise her opinion and start the autobiography.

Meanwhile, whether Davenport knows it or not, she remains Davenport's best publicity asset. The first place I reported myself to in the city on the Mississippi, which she has given a place in American literature, was 311 East 10th street. Any writing man, or man trying to write, would so report himself upon reaching Davenport, because he would know that the inspiration and the unwearied youthfulness and the wise counsel of a skilled and veteran craftsman in the art of writing, awaited him in 10th street.

Where Her Name Originated.
After talk on mutual matters of as long ago as the 1894 of the great Pullman strike, when Octave Thanet settled herself for many days at the old Hotel Florence in Pullman to study the dramatic and distressful conditions prevailing round about, I be thought me to ask Alice French the question many people have asked: How she hit upon the name of Octave Thanet for herself, and why, and where. She laughed, saying:

"Part of it I found on a red freight car in a long train that I saw in the railroad yards at Cleveland when I was making a trip to Boston. 'Thanet' was chalked on the red freight car. I had never seen the name before, nor have I seen it since. It caught my fancy. Those were the days when many persons who aspired to write thought there was no beginning to write until the pen name had been chosen."

Davenport's Most Interesting.
"It was in the 'eighties that I found 'Thanet.' The other part of the pen name wasn't decided upon for a long time, and when it was it was the first name of my roommate in Abbot academy in Andover, where I was born and where I was schooled. I loved her—and her name, Octave."

The veteran spoke the word musingly, and I forbore to pry further. Perhaps she will tell us more about those matters in Chapter I. of "The Autobiography of Octave Thanet," life story of the woman who did for our Chicagoan of the end of the last century and the beginning of this what William Dean Howells did for the East—that is, told its true story and made that story literature.

And the woman who is today the most interesting person—I think—to be encountered among Davenport's seventy thousand people.

(Times-Tribune Chicagoan's New Stage to New England.)

REG YOUR PARDON—Through my blundering the truth as it happens, for the stock "typographical error" that blames overblowing on the poet's printer—President Joseph M. Tilden of Lombard college, Galesburg, was first mentioned in yesterday's Chicagoan under the name of Joseph M. Tilden. This caused such confusion, further along in the article that I doubt whether President Tilden could make out Sunday morning whether he was a college president or a bank president, or both. As a matter of fact, he is the first, and a director of a Galesburg bank.

FIND BODY IN R. R. YARDS.
The body of a man believed to have been Jack Nelson, address unknown, was found in the yards of the Chicago and North Western railway at Kinzie street and Talmage street. He had apparently been killed by a train.

COST TO U. S. FOR PHILIPPINES SET AT HALF BILLION

$12,000,000 Spent for Defense Each Year.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(Special.)—Twenty-eight years as guardian of the Philippine islands has cost the United States more than $500,000,000. This sum includes the cost of military and naval operations in the Philippines during the Spanish-American war, the $20,000,000 paid Spain for relinquishing its claim to the islands, and approximately $12,000,000 spent annually for the defense of and the maintenance of order in the islands themselves.

So far as internal affairs are concerned, the islands are entirely self-sufficient and have been ever since the military occupation ended in 1902 and the Philippine government was established. The annual revenues have been sufficient to meet the expenses of the domestic government and provide for the construction and maintenance of roads and harbors and similar public services.

No Funds for Army.

The revenues reached their peak in 1924 at $27,625,101 and the most vexing question before leading native advocates of immediate, complete and absolute independence for the islands is where money to finance an army and navy for defense and to keep peace in the islands could be found if the United States withdrew.

On June 19, 1925, the secretary of war reported expenditures by the war department for equipment, supplies and military operations in the Philippines, from May 1, 1924, to April 30, 1925, to be $170,326,544.11. Expenditures for the months of May and June, 1925, based upon the expenditures for the previous ten months, would equal $4,994,416.60.

Philippine Scout Cost.

The total for the twelve years, 1903 to 1914 inclusive, was fixed at $111,111,111. Of this total there was expended an amount of the Philippine scouts, $11,111,111.11 in pay, travel pay, interest on soldiers' deposits, clothing and payments to the beneficiaries of officers and men.

Bringing the war department's expenditures in the islands down to June 30, 1925, the last date for which complete data is available, the bureau of insular affairs bases the outlay for the period between July 1, 1914, to June 30, 1925, upon the expenditures for the twelve fiscal years ended June 30, 1914—an average of $9,475,947.45 a year—and arrives at a total of $85,511,369.70 for the later nine year period.

On this basis the total expenditures of the army in the islands from May 1, 1898, the date of the battle of Manila bay, until June 30, 1925, were $774,515,903.97.

The secretary of the navy reported on May 29, 1925, that "the total additional cost of the navy, or excess in expenditures over the normal due to conditions in the Philippine islands since May 1, 1898, will not exceed $7,000,000 or $8,000,000." On Jan. 14, 1915, the secretary reported the approximate expenditures of the navy department, on account of the navy and marine corps in the Philippines, for the twelve fiscal years, June 1, 1902, to June 30, 1914, as $25,983,415.

Basing the expenditures for the period July 1, 1914, to June 30, 1925, upon that for the twelve fiscal years ended June 30, 1914—$25,983,415 a year—the expenditures for the nine fiscal years ending June 30, 1925, were $235,250,735, bringing the total expenditures for the navy for the period from May 1, 1898, to June 30, 1925, to $261,235,150 for the taking of the Philippines in 1902 and $3,000,000 for the relief of distressed natives in 1903.

Thus, based on these various reports, the total estimated expenditures by the United States on account of its occupation of the Philippine islands until June 30, 1925, may be summarized as follows:

Army $774,515,903.97
Navy $261,235,150.00
Payment to Spain $20,000,000.00
Cost and profits survey $4,671,814.70
Casualty of 1902 $1,000,000.00
Relief of distress $5,000,000.00
Total $1,066,422,878.67

In the last three years, it is estimated that the army and navy together expended over $40,000,000 in the islands, bringing the grand total to more than $500,000,000 for the period of occupation to date.

U. S. FACTORY EXPORTS JUMP 16 PCT. IN YEAR

Double Pre-War Volume and Triple Value.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.) Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—(Special.)—Tremendous growth in American exports of manufactured goods during the fiscal year recently closed and the immense importance of foreign sales of this class are emphasized by Dr. Julius Klein, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, in a statement today.

"Exports of finished manufactures increased over the preceding year 16 per cent. They were 66 per cent greater than in 1921-22. They were nearly three times as great in value as in the five year period before the war. Even after allowing for higher prices they were more than double the pre-war average."

Balance Fall in Raw Exports.
"The capacity of finished manufactures to serve as balance wheel in foreign trade is conspicuously illustrated," Dr. Klein said. "Had it not been for the increase in our exports of this class our total export trade would have shown a very marked slump."

See Further Increase Ahead.
"This sharp fall would have had a serious effect upon our international business had it not been in large measure counterbalanced by the increase in exports of finished manufactures. As it was, our total exports showed a decline of only 2 1/2 per cent. There is every reason to anticipate a steady increase for the future in American exports of manufactured products. They are bound to become gradually a larger and larger share of our total exports. This is the natural result of the growing population and increasing industrial development of the country."

POLITICS GOES TO THE COUNTRY AS FAIRS BEGIN

Politics of the rural variety takes the center of the Illinois stage this week with the opening of Gov. Len Small's Kankakee fair today. It will be followed by the Illinois state fair at Springfield next week and the Central States exposition at Aurora the week following, with an assortment of smaller gatherings sandwiched in. Candidates and party managers are giving the fairs, homecomings, and fish fry heavy play this year, with the state fair at Springfield topping all events. For the first time in several years the Democrats intend to utilize what is traditionally known as Democratic Wednesday at the capital exposition.

George E. Brennan, Democratic nominee for United States senator, and State Chairman Tom Donovan will head a delegation of Cook county Democrats to Springfield on Aug. 25. At least a trainload will make the trip, according to announcements. The G. O. P. state committee will establish headquarters at the Abraham Lincoln hotel in Springfield during the state fair, Chairman Gus Johnson said yesterday.

DAWES IS HOME, READY TO SLAP AT SENATE RULES

Vice President Charles G. Dawes returned to Chicago from Wagon Wheel Gap in the Colorado Rockies yesterday and is ready to begin another crusade next month against the senate filibuster rules. The new attack by the Vice President will be even more energetic than the first, conducted before his last session, his intimate friends say. Toughened and tanned by his vacation in the mountains, the Vice President is in condition for a whirlwind stump tour to present his ideas about senate rules directly to the people in an effort to abolish the one man filibuster. His first smash probably will be made in the east.

Gen. Dawes speaks before the American Legion in Philadelphia on Oct. 5, but will discuss other things on that occasion. The only meeting scheduled so far for a slam at the senate is to be in New York a few days after the Legion meeting in Quakertown, but his secretary is busy on an itinerary that will begin next month. Gen. Dawes was accompanied on his vacation by his wife and children; his secretary, E. R. Bartly; Kenneth Roberts, and Ben Ames Williams, a brace of writing friends.

WANTS WHEELER INDICTED FOR HIS SLUSH EVIDENCE

Prosecute the Anti-Saloon League: Tinkham.

[Chicago Tribune From Service.]
Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Immediate prosecution of the Anti-Saloon League of America, its state subsidiaries and all of their principal officers for willful and persistent violation of the federal corrupt practices act, is demanded by Representative George Holden Tinkham. (Rep., Mass.), in a sharp letter to Attorney General Clegg, made public today.

The letter reviews the senate slush fund committee's exposure of the league's political activities and its "systematic, intentional and criminal purpose to violate the law," citing the bonafide testimony of Wayne B. Wheeler, the league's general counsel, that more than $50,000,000 was spent to put the eighteenth amendment into the federal constitution and that over $4,000,000 or more has been spent in the last six years, to keep it there.

Call Him Perjuror.
In view of his testimony before the senate committee, and the sworn reports filed with the clerk of the house of representatives by Wheeler, indicating that only trifling sums, comparatively, have been spent by the league, the dry leader should be promptly indicted as a perjurer, according to Mr. Tinkham.

"Due to the nullification of the federal corrupt practices act of 1919 and 1925 by failure of your department to enforce their provisions against the Anti-Saloon League of America and its state subsidiaries," says Mr. Tinkham in the letter, "there has been perpetrated against the institutions and laws of the United States a supreme offense."

"No greater political crime could be committed than the addition to the constitution of the United States of an amendment which has been bought and paid for. Your department could be guilty of no greater dereliction than failure to enforce laws whose object is the prevention of such political iniquity."

Intent to Violate Law.
The facts disclose a systematic, intentional and criminal purpose to violate the law on the part of this organization, which has entirely set aside

AMENDMENT 18 WINS, VOLSTEAD LAW LOSES, IN NATION-WIDE POLL

Boston, Mass., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—The National Economic League announced today that on 1,994 ballots cast in a nation-wide referendum on prohibition, submitted to 4,000 representative men and women, the 18th amendment won but the Volstead act was defeated.

J. W. B. on secretary, in discussing the referendum, said: "We believe it is this vote accurately reflects the country on the subject."

Chairman E. Hughes, Frank O. Lowden, John Hays Hammond, President James E. Aspell of Yale, David Starr Jordan, Edward A. Filene, former Senator Beveridge of Indiana, Charles M. Schwab, President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia, President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard, and Roger W. Babson comprise the executive council of the league.

one of the great guarantees of American freedom and liberty as asserted in the constitution of the United States, namely, the separation of church and state.

During the day Mr. Wheeler issued a statement asserting his conclusion after an analysis of the congressional and state primaries held in 25 states to date, that there is no reaction to the 18th amendment. Over 75 per cent of the 1926 representatives and 80 per cent of the senatorial candidates named thus far, he asserted, voted, according to Mr. Wheeler, who predicted even more sweeping results in the November elections.

Minority government is imposed on Illinois, he said, because 21 of the 25 congressmen of districts and 43 of the 49 senators voted overwhelmingly in the 1922 referendum.

Rodeo Crowd Sees Spills on Muddy Field.

Drenched, yet refusing to leave the scene of activity, a crowd of 35,000 persons sat through two hours and fifteen minutes of western drama in the rain yesterday afternoon at the third performance of the Association of Commerce rodeo at Soldiers' field.

At night the skies were clear, but the afternoon rain thinned the crowd to a bare 20,000.

The going was difficult for all concerned, audience and participants alike, in the afternoon. For the crowd it was not pleasant to sit or stand totally unprotected from the elements or even share the half security of a neighbor's umbrella or extended slicker. But they stuck it out and applauded each worthy event in the arena.

But the Show Goes On.
The muddy center of the field provided no sure footing for a plunging bronc, bucking steer, or racing horse, but the show had to go on, and it did.

Tex Austin, its manager and director, hadn't the heart to disappoint the crowd, and the word was passed out to "hit it up," no matter how much water fell. Numberless men falls oc-curved, but a sprained ankle and bruised shoulder suffered by two punchers was the total of the afternoon's casualties.

The first injury was suffered by Bryan Roach of Fort Worth, Tex., twice champion bronc rider of the world, who sprained a weak ankle when his plunging horse slipped in the mud as it shot out of the chute and fell on his left leg. Twice before this season Roach had sprained the same ankle and this accident definitely put him out of the running during this contest.

The other accident occurred when Eulon Slaughter of Los Angeles fell as his horse slipped on a turn during the cowboys' relay race. His shoulder was slightly bruised.

Two Tied in Events.
Two punchers tied for best time of the meet in the steer wrestling event last night, both Mike Hastings of Fort Worth and Frank McCarroll of Boise, Ida, tying their animals a scant fifty yards after they had dashed from the chutes. Their time was 17.3 seconds each.

First points in the bronc riding contests were announced by the judges, J. M. Jones, Ward Farmer, and Johnnie McElhenry, following last night's performance. The scores, judged on points, follow:

Charles Irvin.....159 Ray Gafford.....153
Hank Strickland.....152 E. Hack.....150
Norman Cowan.....150 Lee Rose.....150
Bob Askins.....150 Floyd Sullivan.....150
Perry Ivory.....150 John Henry.....148
J. W. Harnett.....150 Earl Thoms.....149
Cluck Wilson.....150 Nevada Slim.....147
Howard Tegland.....150 Chick Hammon.....142
Brook Cox.....150 Marvin Collins.....142

For calf roping Lee Robinson, Fort Worth, stands highest to date, his time being 34 seconds. Mable Strickland, Hollywood, Cal., has six points to her credit in the Cowgirls' relay race, a four-point lead over her rival of years.

Tad Lucas of Douglas, Wyo., lost night both Tad Lucas and Josephine Sherry of Cheyenne, Wyo., took bad falls on the north turn of the track during the race, but neither was hurt.

Murphy Palmer of Cheyenne and Carl Arnold of Stanley, N. M., are tied for first place in the cowboys' relay race, each having four points.

Much of the day's laughter from the wet crowd was drawn by the antics of Red Sublette, cowboy clown, and his trick mule, "Sparkling," mounted by the rodeo crowd "Democracy." The mule arbitrarily lies down, kicks and runs away.

C. M. Montgomery of Alberta, Can., the wrangler who broke an arm Saturday when he was trampled by a horse, was back with his comrades yesterday, his arm in a sling. Rumor was rife that he had slipped down the fire-escape of a hospital to get back to the show.

BRITISH POLICE SEIZES SUPPOSED KITCHENER BODY

LONDON, Aug. 12.—[Special.]—The Kitcheners' body was found by British police today, a new development in the search for the body of the British field marshal who was killed in the battle of Gallipoli.

The body, which was found in a trench, was taken to a local mortuary. There it will remain intact until tomorrow morning, when the matter will be reported officially to the coroner, who will decide whether to call for an inquest.

Frank Fowler, British newspaperman, recently announced that he found the late Lord Kitcheners' body in Norway. He had it removed to London, and then notified Premier Baldwin. The British government apparently gives no credence to the announcement that the body within the coffin is that of the field marshal, and it is not known whether the police have acted on the investigation of the government, or on their own authority.

Some men prefer blondes

You can't account for men's tastes. Some buy any kind of gasoline; others are more particular.

To the particular man, the one who wants real gasoline (not synthetic) with a punch in every pint, let him

Sunoco gasoline, from the oil well to the pump you buy it from, has been owned and watched and handled only by ourselves.

St. Cloud, Minn., Aug. 12.—There are some outstanding men in Minnesota, who have the spirit of the old west, but where today many are less scrupulous than in the center of gravity of the continent against the east: The Republican party is strong.

The third party is dying, says Mr. Johnson, who is a member of the legislature in his hall of fame. President Coolidge is a weakling; they are cool on here.

SECTIONAL ENVY OF EAST GROWS IN MINNESOTA

See New England Filling
Front Pews of G. O. P.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

St. Cloud, Minn., Aug. 13.—[Special.]

There are some outstanding tendencies in Minnesota, which had an agricultural spring of its own a few years ago, but where today unrest appears to be rampant.

The third party is dying with its leader, Magnus Johnson, who is its spokesman in the hall of Bashaw House.

President Coolidge is displaying contempt; they are cool on Cal out here.

Re-Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois is growing in popularity. The farmers are still talking well of Governor Weaver.

The farmers display little unrest and appear cheerful enough, but resentment against the east is running rampant.

The general view is that the drift of the Republican party in the east is toward conservatism, that the eastern hard-boiled oligarchy and the protected New England industries are filling up the rear of the front pews in the grand old party.

On farm relief tactics there is a wide divergence of opinion. One side says the best course is to educate the industrial east in the problems of western agriculture and collaborate, if possible, in getting a solution. The opposite is for cutting loss, seeking it to the east and backing up with the southern cotton states for relief.

Gov. Christman, who recently was re-elected by the greatest plurality ever given a candidate for governor in Minnesota in primary or general elections, is included in a large part of the program for the view that the east and the industrial should contribute to solving the farm problem.

As to the tariff, which the Democrats hope may give them a hot issue in the current fight and a chance to win in 1924 by a "south and west" issue, Minnesota is essentially protectionist.

Iron ore and the dairy industry make it worse.

Representative David Cowie.

Old timers on the iron ranges at Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan are another group. The south, however, and the lines of low tariff Cleveland days.

When eastern steel mills close down there is no work for the miner. The latter is a farmer, and protection against invasion of English butter, for example, is a hard lot even a cross-eyed politician to swallow.

The farmers will appear to be in a cross-eyed political position to survive Minnesota, throwing in with the Democrats, protectionist.

But they do think the industrial east ought to show enough interest in agriculture to learn at least the difference between a mile and a boy's head.

CLAIMS RUSSIAN WORKERS TURN ON BOLSHEVIK RULE

Envoys Seek World Aid to Oust Reds.

BY SIGMUND SCHULTZ.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Copyright, 1922, by The Chicago Tribune.

St. Paul, Aug. 13.—Minor officials of the soviet republic are streaming out of Russia at the rate of 200 a day. Many are smuggling the wealth they hoarded in government posts to bourgeois lands, fearing upheavals in the near future. But the most important among those leaving Russia are commissars for the workers, who are planning to tell Europe and America the truth about their country and to enlist help.

Outside of the bolshevik party the workers are the main organized body in Russia.

"We are tired of the Moscow government," M. Badian, one of these emissaries, said. "Since 1917 and before that my friends and I have been in the communist movement. I have been a commissar of the cheka (the state police) and an official of the government. The soviets have given me the administration of a factory of 12,500 men. I know the full truth about Russia."

"Therefore I gave up my post and resigned from the party in an official letter to the Russian ambassador in Berlin. My friends and I have recognized that the Russian workers must separate from the Moscow regime if we want to survive."

Forced to contribute.

M. Badian gave details of how the so-called voluntary contributions are being taken from the wages of the Russian workers by order of the government for the British miners' strike.

"Voluntary contributions—nothing," he said. "This money is deducted from the pay envelopes before the workers lay hands on them."

The Russian worker sees hundreds of millions leave the country for propaganda abroad. Every strike in the world receives funds through the communist international, but these funds are deducted from the wages of the workers.

Only Harvesting District.

Instead of harvesting friendships for us, the Russian worker has just with the distrust and hatred of the whole world. Our party believes the funds squandered now for propaganda would be sufficient for the payment of interest on a great part of our pre-war debts to France, England and America, which is the stumbling block in our path of reconciliation with the nations.

"The main points of the program of the new workers' party call for the immediate dissolution of the 'Kommintern,' the head organization of the communist international, new elections to the soviet on democratic principles, the suppression of the dictatorial power of the Moscow soviets, and the resumption of the payment of interest on Russia's debt abroad."

Dreadful reports are being broadcast about the terror in Russia. They are true. As a captain of the cheka in Samara and Cherepovets, I administered the cheka prisons. I know of the lies being told delegates of American and other workers visiting the Russian prisons. I helped to supervise the Norwegian delegation in 1921."

The Wrong Shoes.
My girl friend arranged to meet me by a certain post at the beach one Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. When I arrived I looked for her clothes that she generally wore and found them some ten feet away from the post. I thought I would play a trick on her and fill her shoes with sand. After I had completed my joke I heard a shrill voice yelling at me. A young woman came up to me and demanded what I was trying to do with her shoes, but I was so embarrassed and flustered I could not speak, and walked away amid the laughter of the crowd about me.

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank to Quit Politics for Writing, Friends Hear

BY NANCY R.

If a certain rumor be true, the political world has lost a valued member, while the writing world has gained a staunch campaigner. For the wife of one of the nation's leading writers, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, has announced her intention of deserting politics for good, and has added that from now on her trusty pen will be her only weapon. This is news indeed—for years Mrs. Fairbank has been a devoted and diligent Democrat, and her services to the party of her choice, especially when a fray was to be had, have been unceasing.

Since the publication of "The Smiths," her delightful novel dealing with life in Chicago, Mrs. Fairbank has added several pen-name to her list of pen-names in the way of short stories. And apparently she's found it such a satisfactory outlet for her talents and energies that she's going to keep on with her writing indefinitely.

With her husband and their two sons, she has been spending most of this summer in the west, but their return to Chicago is now a matter of two distant future. In the meantime, Janet Fairbank Jr., is having a whirl in and about Paris. After a motor trip through England with her mother, and another similar expedition through Spain with the Negley Parsons, she returned to France for the papalities of July and August, and her letters home are filled with accounts of the interesting things she has been doing.

Day's News in Society

The affair of the summer season at Williamstown, Mass., in the heart of a section favored by Chicagoans, was the garden party last week given by Mrs. E. F. Fairbank (Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank) at Kywaden, in compliment to the Richmond Garden club. Mrs. W. Rockwood Gibbs, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eliza Whitehead of Chicago, is president of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Stevens of Highland Park were visitors at Williamstown this week, while on a tour of the White mountains and Berkshire.

Other visitors in that vicinity are Mrs. Donald R. Wieg of 47 East Elm street, who, with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Frothingham Jr., is visiting Mrs. Samuel Frothingham at Lenox, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. George Eastman Dryden (Dorothy Heller) have returned from their wedding journey to Banff, Lake Louise, and Alaska, and will be at home after Sept. 1 at 435 Aldine avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Plamondon of 311 Belden avenue are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son, Charles A. Plamondon, III., on Aug. 9 at the John B. Murphy hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Briggs and small daughter of St. Paul, Minn., are visiting Mrs. Briggs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Winslow, at their summer place at South Haven, Mich. Mrs. Briggs was the former Marjorie Winslow.

Mrs. Knowlton L. Ames Jr. and children have returned from a visit with Mrs. Ames' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Winter of Minneapolis, Minn.

Ostrich Trimmed Gown—By Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—There is no such thing as a perfect dress nowadays. For although ostrich is not in the most conspicuous ranks of evening trimmings, neither has it completely buried its head. In fact, it is always used by those who appreciate the contribution made to chiffon or crepe by these fluttering filaments.

We find it functioning today on an evening gown of mauve crepe Elizabeth to which those thin fronds shading into deep violet give not only a charming color effect, but also that appearance of motion which is so essential to the "straight-line" frock. It must be remembered, in fact, that this season there is no such thing as the still-ouette. Your skirt must be on the move and it does not matter how you accomplish this activity—whether by flying draperies, or panels, or tiers, or the cut of the skirt itself.

There is another modern phase of the straight-line gown. Usually it provides extreme narrowness about the hips. Thus we find this model weighed with a broad swath of self-material. From the top of this swath you will find in the back a single fold of material which is also edged with the shaded ostrich. As to the final details, these are located in a chiffon flower, shaded as is the ostrich, and in an original seaming of the corsage front.

Nibbles and Sups Between Meals Are What Put on Pounds

Everyone knows by this time that the way to get rid of the extra pounds is to starve them off. How to do it is the question. But in order to get on a starvation diet, by simply keeping the appetite for "extra" curbed.

It isn't your regular dinner of meat and potatoes, vegetables, salad and dessert that upholds the figure. It is the extra helpings or the large ones of these ordinary "od items."

If beverages were omitted at meals, for one thing, a great deal less food would be consumed. The need of it would not be felt. What is consumed would require more chewing and that in itself would save time and the amount consumed. One does not eat less when there is no beverage to wash down what is half-chewed.

Drink water before the meal rather than with it. It will curb that ravenous appetite. Not that there is any harm in drinking water with the meal. But the trouble with most people is that they drink it to wash down food they're too lazy to chew. If it is drunk after food has been masticated and swallowed it does no harm. In fact, we are told it aids digestion. But in order to get on to the hang of chewing food, the water glass and the tea or coffee cups should not be permitted at table at all.

Then, if you are one of those after-noon tea party-ers, we'd like to remind you that with your cup of tea you are quite likely to total up around 500 extra calories to be considered in the day's sum. If you order tea biscuits, and marmalade, and cream with your tea, butter for your biscuits—there you have almost 400 calories. Have your afternoon tea, if you must entertain Susie or Belle to get the gossip of the old home town, but when you sit down to dinner count off your order the equivalent of that many calories.

Devil's Food.

Of all the delectable recipes those for devil's food cake seem to be about the most so, we may judge from the sort of inquiries and complaints that come to us from time to time. Some people want an exceedingly moist cake, and try out some recipe that gives them a dry one, because chocolate thickens and flour has not accordingly been scant. Some people like a dark cake and others a lighter one. First, and last, we have made chocolate cakes of every shade from a sort of tan to the darkest seal. Which one is best? Ah and alas, we feel quite incapable of answering that question, but the following recipe given to E. S. by Mrs. Watt of E. S.'s own university town, where a great deal of attention is given to cooking, makes a moist and dark cake, but in testing it we had reason to believe that the cup of milk could well be spared.

One cup brown sugar, three-fourths of a cup of chocolate—three squares cut up will yield that amply—and one cup of strong coffee. Boil these together and cool. In our satisfactory

Keeping Your Schoolgirl Complexion

By IRENE CASTLE

Copyrighted 1926 by I. R. Castle

Take Care What Kind of soap touches your face

The kind beauty experts use themselves—how to use

To endanger a good complexion with an unproved soap is a folly. The only kind of soap to use on your face is a true complexion soap. Some soaps that are excellent in many ways are too harsh for the skin.

Laundry, scrub, with any soap you wish. But if guarding a good complexion is your aim, take care. Use a soap made to protect it.

Thus Palmolive is so widely urged as a soap made solely for one purpose—to protect the complexion. A soap made by experts in beauty to be used freely and lavishly on the skin.

The accepted beauty method today is the simple method that follows—Nature's formula to "Keep That Schoolgirl Complexion." Leading skin experts urge. Thousands of beautiful complexions prove its results.

Follow this rule one week—Note the improvement that comes.

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge, if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Get real Palmolive.

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Then note what an amazing difference one week makes. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois.

CUB DOEG PLAYS TO FAMILY WINS NET

Bell and Quick Junior Doub

BY HOWARD ROBB
John Doeg of Santa Monica, yesterday afternoon, held the heritage passed down from a family of great tennis champions.

The sandy-haired Pacific player ascended the throne for the first time, defeating Vincent Richards, George Cranton Holman, and other famous players by default. Seligson of New York, 6-4, 6-3, on the turf courts of the Side Tennis club. At the Berkeley Bell, Austin, and Jack Dallas, won the doubles. Emmet Pars, Chicago, and Sells, San Francisco, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1.

Seligson Fight Doeg. Although he won impressively, he had no easy row to hoe in the challenge of Seligson, a youngster whose marvelous both ground strokes and volleys upset two leading for the title. Julius again was himself and fought doggedly, sustaining many spirited rallies. As in his earlier matches, Seligson's service was the key feature and the stroke which led him to victory. Twelve of the four sets that Seligson won were past Seligson for a long time. Seligson's brilliant work was the deciding factor in the match. Doeg rushed to the net on occasion, particularly behind Seligson's service, and the ball flashed in sharply angled volleys for placements. Seligson's delivery four times, not cope with it at crucial moments. Seligson's brilliant work was the deciding factor in the match. Doeg Slips and Falls. The first set went with Seligson's delivery to gain. Then, by winning his own set, he took the service. Seligson of the net in the second set, a series of sharp volleys broke service twice for an easy 6-1. He gained the deciding placement when Doeg slipped while reaching for the ball. The match was really won in the third set. Julius, a born taker, took the set through, this time for the final set was all Doeg, the aggressive net attack leaving no doubt.

Mother Was Noted. The new champion's family of tennis players, was a noted player and his brother, Seligson, was a national champion. Her husband, Thomas, was a doubles partner of Seligson. Another son, Seligson, is a tennis pro on the tour.

The victory of the Tennis Bell and Quick in the final set was a surprise. Seligson, who had lost last year's title to Doeg and Bill, in an earlier round, regarded as the strongest player in the country. The match was a thriller, being fiercely contested. Seligson's steadyness and brilliant volleys, and his erratic tendencies, were the key factors in the match. Seligson's brilliant work was the deciding factor in the match. AGE WALKS. A 50-year-old man, who was the 11th in the race, walked the 116 miles at an average of 1.5 miles an hour. He was the only one of the second group, which included several others, to complete the race. The race was held on the 11th of the month, and the winner was the 11th in the race. DOGS ROW TO CARDINALS' HOMERS, 7 TO 2

DOEG PLAYS UP TO FAMILY FORM, WINS NET TITLE

Bell and Quick Take Junior Doubles.

BY HOWARD ROBERTS.
John Doeg of Santa Monica, Cal., and Violet Button of the famous Button estate, yesterday staunchly upheld the heritage passed down to him from a family of great tennis players by winning the national junior tennis championship.

The sandy haired Pacific coast southwesterer ascended the throne formerly held by Thomas Richardson, George Lott, Quentin Holman, and other world famous players by defeating Julius Seligson of New York, 6-4, 1-6, 8-6, 6-3, on the turf courts of the South Side Tennis club. At the same time Berkeley Bell, Austin, and James Quick, Dallas, won the doubles title over Ernest Fare, Chicago, and Robert Heller, San Francisco, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4, 6-1.

Seligson Fights Doggedly.
Although he won impressively, Doeg had so easy row to hoe in disposing of the challenge of Seligson, the husky youngster whose marvelous control of both ground strokes and volleys had already upset two leading favorites for the title. Julius again was steadiness and fought doggedly for each point, sustaining many spirited rallies in his earlier matches. Doeg's underhand service was the outstanding feature and the stroke which carried him to victory. Twelve times during the four sets that service went sailing past Seligson for aces and on numerous other occasions it was all the New Yorker could do to lay his racket on the ball. Seligson cracked Doeg's delivery four times, but could not cope with it at crucial points.

Johnny's brilliant work at the net was the deciding factor in his victory. Doeg rushed to the net at every occasion, particularly behind his own service, and the ball flashed from his racket in sharp angled volleys and half volleys for placements. The majority of his total 50 placements were gained from the net.

Doeg Slips and Falls.
The first set went with service until the seventh game, when Doeg knifed Seligson's delivery to gain the lead. Then, by winning his own service twice in a row, he took the set. Seligson charged to the net in the second set, and with a series of sharp volleys broke John's service twice for an easy 6-1 victory. In the third set, Seligson had a few things to say for himself. He took the first set, 6-3, and in the eighth game John broke Seligson's delivery to even the count. Then then went with service until the 14th, when Seligson broke through, this time for the set. The final set was all Doeg, the coast lad's aggressive net attack leaving the outcome never in doubt.

Mother Was Noted Player.
The new champion comes from a family of tennis players. His mother was a noted player and his aunt, May Bates Bundy, was national women's champion. Her husband, Thomas Bundy, was doubles partner of Maurice McLaughlin. Another aunt, Florence Bates, is a tennis pro on the coast. The victory of the Texas team of Bell and Quick in the doubles came as a surprise. The Dallas boys had defeated last year's titleholders, Johnson and Hill, in an earlier round and were regarded as the strongest combination in the tournament.

Swim of 7 Miles Made by Girl, 15

Frances Macy, 15 year old prize high school student at Lorena academy yesterday plunged into Lake Michigan at the foot of 74th street, swam out to the 67th street crib and back, a distance of nearly seven miles, in 3 hours and 45 minutes, and declared she felt fine and could easily have finished twice the distance.

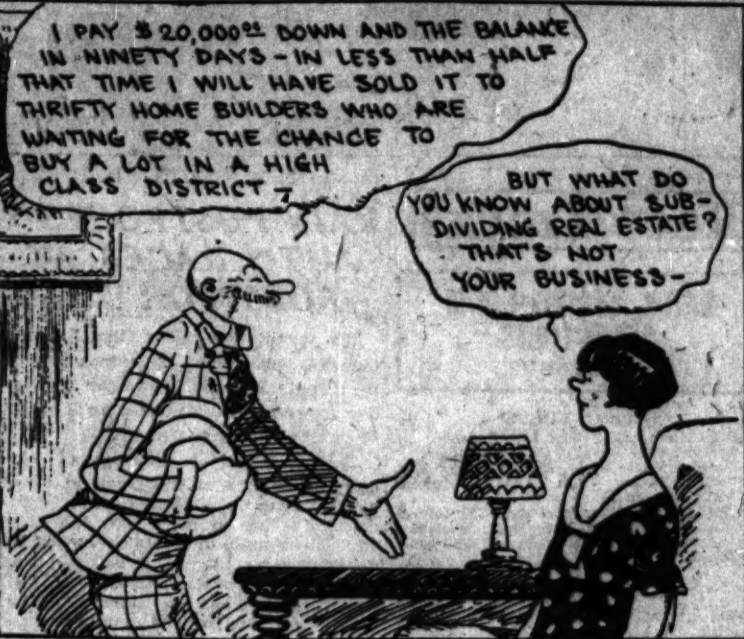

Although the lake was cold and choppy as Frances entered the water, she was determined, like Gertrude Ederle, her inspiration, to either swim or sink. She is the first girl swimmer to make the crib swim at that point. Frances, who is 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighs 146 pounds, used the side stroke all the way. Her ambition now is to train for a swim across the English channel.

While her father, George E. Macy, 1745 East 72d place, and Lester Lackie, 2654 East 74th street, accompanied Frances in a rowboat, a large crowd on the beach followed her with field glasses. Among these were her mother, her five smaller brothers, and sister, and her friend, Ethel Jankie, champion I. A. C. swimmer.

MICHIGAN OFFERS
ALUMNI BONDS
TO BUILD STADIUM
Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 15.—(AP)—A million and a half dollars financing plan for the construction of the new University of Michigan stadium and for other athletic expansion was announced today.

The plan, outlined in a prospectus mailed to the 63,000 alumni and former students of the university, calls for the issuance of $800 twenty year bonds, each for $500, bearing 3 percent interest. Each bond entitles the holder to make application for 10 years for two seats for all football games in the stadium reserved section. Only two bonds are to be sold to the same individual.

TILDEN'S DRIVES BEAT RICHARDS IN N. Y. TOURNAMENT

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 15.—(AP)—William T. Tilden II, defeated Vincent Richards in the Southern New York State tennis championship by taking three sets after Richards had captured the first. The score was 6-4, 6-4, 7-5.

Tilden, the old master, was himself again today. Richards put up a sensational and aggressive game in the first set, but he tired pretty soon. Vincent Richards, who is a former champion, was defeated in the third set and then dashed on to make the break in the fourth.

THIS WAKE IS CONDUCTED BY HARVEY T. WOODRUFF, HELP!
The New York Giants were world's champions and stopped at the Auditorium hotel and had a big flag flying outside the hotel, which proclaimed the headquarters of the "World's Champions," and they rode to the ball park in a bus driven by two horses adorned with blankets which told the world the "World's Champions" were in the East—Dick Ad.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(Special).—Doubts cast by certain French newspapers of the merits of Gertrude Ederle's cross channel swim, have found echo in England. The Dover Express and East Kent News prints the following:

"So far little information has been given of the details of Miss Ederle's swim—the most extraordinary thing about it being that she made no westward drift with the ebb tide which on the day in question ran westward for nearly seven hours at an average speed of nearly two knots. Her craft never came in front of Dover and she seems to have kept according to what details have been published of the swim, in strict of South Goodwin's all this period."

Pros, Youths, Women Enter Meets Today

LANDIS TO SEE PIRATE REBELS; PLEDGES NO AID

BY HARLAND ROHM.
Three groups of sailors will set out today, with varying ultimate objectives ranging from a pocket full of cash to the glory of the caddy house. At Bunker Hill fifty or more of Illinois' best wilders of the driver and putter, at least they get paid for availing them, will play in a qualifying round for the National Professional Golfers' championship. At the new Marquette park course a hundred or so women will begin to tread the fairways that lead to the city women's public parks championship. And at Midlothian nearly two hundred caddies will play golf as it should be played in the Chicago District Golf association's annual caddy tournament.

Play for Four Places.
The professional golfers will play thirty-six holes for the four places allotted Illinois in the P. G. A. tournament at Bunker Hill, Long Island, Sept. 20-25. Last year only three places were allotted to this district. Bill Mehlhorn, Laurie Aytton, and Al Espinoza qualified. Mehlhorn going through to the final in which he was beaten by Walter Hagen.

There was a hint yesterday that the pace will be stiff in practice rounds. Jock Hutchison shot 70 and 73, Larrie Aytton went around twice in 73 and 75. Al Espinoza played one practice round, getting a 71, which is just par. Gordon Wright, the home pro, who will play, holds the course record of 64.

To Play in Threesomes.
Most of Illinois' star pros are entered. Play will start at 9 o'clock and the pros will be sent away in threesomes. There will be no admittance charge. Bunker Hill is on Milwaukee avenue in Niles and can be reached by surface line. The best auto road to the course is via the north side boulevards to Devon, west to the new McCormick road, north to Touhy road, west to Milwaukee avenue and south a short distance to the club.

New York, Aug. 15.—(Special).—The venerable Althea career of Red Grange continues. On his last appearance in New York, the noted line mopper of Wheaton, Ill., performed his unparalleled feat of obtaining 11,000 for a cleanup testimonial, notwithstanding the fact that he had never smoked and admitted that he couldn't discriminate between the aroma of burning mattress and a dollar perfume.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
(Chicago Tribune Staff Service.)
St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 15.—(Special).—Something resembling a horse run epidemic swept over the local play ground today and left McCarthy's usually spirited Cubs slightly loose in the heat. They managed to keep themselves together sufficiently well to get a couple of circuitous walkups for themselves with nobody on bases, but the Cardinals were more particular about getting their bases, and had an easy time downing them. The Cubs' delegation by 7 to 5 before 2,000 rhabd. customers.

It has been the complaint of Charles Root that he has been steadily even though permitting his opponents to hop on him for only one or two runs. The ex-count leaguer can't say his name now because in this position he appeared to be such a choice morsel to the pennant seeking Cardinals that they fairly ate him alive in less than four chapters. Root, who has moved away his remains as runs, four the result of homers, had been pushed over the pan, and the battle to all intents and purposes was as definitely determined as tomorrow's supper.

Slam Poets Cub.
The Cubs found hitting a matter of difficulty because of the peculiar timing of the game by Charles (Fitz) Rheim, whose nickname has nothing to do with the composition of his head. The gaunt young man was such a spell binder that he got the nod to think he was going to show them a no hit triumph. They dwelt under that delusion for five chapters, but from then to the finish the Cubs managed to knock a few safety and finish with six to their credit.

The first hit of Rheim was a product of Sator Gonzalez' bat at the start of the fifth. The Cuban lost the ball along the customers in right field and jogged easily toward the bases as he was not to far from any of his ornamental goal fittings.

In the ninth the perpetually perspiring Rheim, who had been making his sixteenth of the season and keeping him tied for the leadership with Jim Bottomley, who had popped out to the same spot in the first chapter.

JOHNSON HOME FROM TOUR WITH OPERA FEATURES

Two Chicago Girls New Singers This Season.

New operas and new artists recently selected for Chicago's approaching grand opera season were announced yesterday by Herbert M. Johnson, manager of the Civic Opera company, upon his return from Europe, where he spent the summer.

Two of the new singers, Anna Hamlin and Lorna Doone Jackson, are Chicagoans. Miss Hamlin, daughter of George Hamlin, a former tenor of the company, belongs to the old Hamlin family, pioneer theatrical producers, who for many years managed the Grand Opera house in Clark street.

Miss Hamlin has a fine voice, carefully cultivated here and abroad, and has just completed a long and successful engagement in Italy. Mr. Johnson said: "Her Chicago debut will be awaited with interest."

Miss Jackson has had wide experience singing in small opera companies throughout the country where she was an enthusiast in the cause of opera in English. After a season studying with Mrs. Calve in France she made a concert tour through Europe and upon her return to America sang a number of guest and special performances in opera.

OIL BOARD TO POINT DANGER OF U. S. SHORTAGE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(Special.)—That a serious oil shortage is in prospect within a comparatively few weeks unless conservation methods are employed will be set forth in the first report of President Coolidge's oil board to be presented to him within the next three or four weeks.

Transmittal of the report to the President is awaiting its approval by all the members of the board. President Coolidge will be advised. It is understood that waterflood methods are now employed by many oil producers and that measures must be taken to assist in conserving the industry. No radical legislation, however, will be recommended, as it is the opinion of the board that drastic government regulation would not offer a proper solution.

In holding that a serious shortage is probable, the board's findings will, in effect, support the conclusions of the geological survey on the subject. The report will point out the necessity of curtailment in oil extraction, and pointing to the danger of exhaustion of the supply within the next decade. It will not be possible to maintain the rate of consumption of recent years, it will be stated, and, therefore, no complete famine will occur at any early period.

Daughters of 1812 Honor Heroes of Fort Dearborn

Commemorative services in honor of heroes who fell in 1812 defending Fort Dearborn, early Chicago garrison, were held yesterday afternoon at the Fort Dearborn monument at 18th street and Prairie avenue by the National Society of the Daughters of 1812. Addresses were made by Mrs. Francis Heald Otis, granddaughter of Maj. Nathan Heald, commander of Fort Dearborn at time of the massacre, and by Peter C. Watkins, senior vice commander of the American Legion of Illinois. Presiding at the services was Mrs. Franklin M. Miller, acting president of the society.
